Circle of the Storm

"What if I told you I had the power to end this war, right here, right now? I can create storm clouds in a clear sky and call upon enough rain to drown a city. I can call upon the winds and run a tornado through an army. I can create a hailstorm that will shatter brick and stone. I can create a blizzard that will freeze a man in minutes. The question isn't can I win this war, the question is should I, knowing the cost?"

- Alfie, the Archdruid of the Circle of Storms

Druids within the Circle of the Storm follow the Elements. While other druids tie themselves to the land, animals, the night sky, or even fey courts, you have decided to call upon one of the most powerful aspects of nature, the weather itself. Just as rain can nourish the land or destroy it in a flood, you defend nature using the elemental forces it creates. At first, you tap into those elemental forces, but over time, and with growth, you become one with them.

Circle of the Storm Features

Class Level	Feature
2nd	Circle Spells, Storm Enhancement, Eye of the Storm
6th	Lightning Rider
10th	Cloud Cover
14th	One with the Tempest

Your mystical connection to the elements grants you access to certain spells. At 2nd, 3rd, 5th, 7th, and 9th level you gain access to circle spells related to the elemental forces of nature on the following table.

Once you gain access to a circle spell, you always have it prepared, and it doesn't count against the number of spells you can prepare each day. If you gain access to a spell that doesn't appear on the druid spell list, the spell is nonetheless a druid spell for you.

Circle Spells

Class Level	Spell
2nd	Feather Fall, Frost Fingers*
3rd	Gust of Wind, Rime's Binding Ice
5th	Lightning Bolt, Call Lightning
7th	Storm Sphere, Ice Storm
9th	Cone of Cold, Control Winds
15th	Control Weather

*Icewind Dale: Rime of the Frostmaiden
Fizban's Treasury of Dragons

Storm Enhancement

At 2nd level, you can start tapping into the power of the tempest. When casting a single target spell that has a damage type other than Bludgeoning, Piercing, or Slashing, you may augment that damage type to Cold or Thunder.

When augmenting a spell to Thunder damage, all creatures damaged by the spell are deafened until the end of their next turn and must make a Constitution saving throw. If they fail, they are pushed 5 feet in a direction of the caster's choosing. The spell also makes a loud peel of thunder that can be heard clearly up to 300 feet away.

When augmenting to Cold damage, all creatures damaged by the spell lose half of each of their move speeds until the end of their next turn and must make a Dexterity saving throw. If they fail, they are knocked prone due to slipping on the ice.

You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Wisdom modifier (minimum of once), and you regain all expended uses of it when you finish a long rest.

Eye of the Storm

Also at 2nd level, you may choose to be unaffected by any effects due to weather and can pass through difficult terrain made by weather conditions without slowing.

Lightning Rider

At 6th level, you can take on the form of lightning and teleport across the battlefield. As an action, you may pick a spot you can see within 60 feet of you as your destination. Each creature in the line excluding you must make a Dexterity saving throw against your Druid spell save DC, taking 3d6 lightning damage on a failed save, and half as much damage on a successful one. If you are in storm like conditions, such as rain or snow, add 3d6 thunder damage to the damage done by this ability as a loud peel of thunder follows behind you. This thunder damage also applies to any non-creature objects or terrain within 5 feet of the line.

You may use this feature a number of times equal to your proficiency modifier. All uses are regained after long rest.

Cloud Cover

At 10th level, you gain the ability to summon fog all around you. You may use your action to casue fog to billow out of you. The fog will rise to 50 feet, and spread 150 feet away from you, including around corners. This fog will persist for 1 minute, even in strong winds. You can decide how thick the fog is, granting all creatures within, no cover, half cover, three-quarters cover, or full cover. Regardless of your choice, you have blindsight to any creature within the fog. Additionally, when you use your Lightning Rider feature, you may make your destination any spot within the fog and gain the Thunder damage bonus.

You may use this feature once and regain the use of it after a long rest.

One with the Tempest

By 14th level, you have learned to take on the form of living storms. You can now expend two uses of Wild Shape at the same time to transform into a Living Storm (stat block below). While in this form, you may speak any language you know and you may cast any of the spells granted to you by your Circle Spells feature, without needing any of their verbal, somatic, or material components.

Living Storm

Air Form. The elemental can enter a hostile creature's space and stop there. It can move through a space as narrow as 1 inch wide without squeezing.

Magic Resistance. The Living Storm has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Actions

Multi Attack. The Living Storm makes two Storm Strike attacks.

Storm Strike. Melee Spell Attack: +7 to hit, reach 10 ft. one target. Hit: 21 (5d6+4) Lightning, Thunder, or Cold damage.

Whirlwind (Recharge 4–6). Each creature in the elemental's space must make a DC 15 Strength saving throw. On a failure, a target takes 15 (3d8 + 2) bludgeoning damage and is flung up 20 feet away from the elemental in a random direction and knocked prone. If a thrown target strikes an object, such as a wall or floor, the target takes 3 (1d6) bludgeoning damage for every 10 feet it was thrown. If the target is thrown at another creature, that creature must succeed on a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or take the same damage and be knocked prone.

If the saving throw is successful, the target takes half the bludgeoning damage and isn't flung away or knocked prone.

Expand and Contract. The Living Storm may increase or decrease its size category by one, to a maximum size of huge, and a minimum size of medium.
